Who can receive the H1N1 vaccine on December 12?

Due to the continued nationwide shortage, the H1N1 vaccine is only available to individuals who live in Alameda County and who are at highest-risk of complications from exposure to the H1N1 virus, including:

- Pregnant women
- Persons who live with or provide care for infants under the age of 6 months (e.g., parents, siblings and childcare providers)
- Children and young adults aged 6 months - 24 years (children 9 years of age and under will need a second dose of vaccine in a least 3 - 4 weeks)
- All other persons aged 25 - 64 who have chronic medical conditions that put them at higher risk for flu-related complications

Individuals who do not meet these high-risk guidelines will not receive the vaccine on Dec. 12. Unfortunately, there will be no exceptions.

Tips for visiting an H1N1 vaccination clinic:

- Prepare to stand in line for an extended period of time; dress for winter weather and wear comfortable shoes.
- Bring water, snacks and any medication required within a 3-hour period; bring books or crayons for children.
- Proof of chronic illness or medical condition is not required.
- The H1N1 vaccine continues to be distributed directly to health-care providers by the state. Residents can contact their health-care provider to determine availability or for guidance related to the H1N1 vaccine.
